BX Swiss wins leading Swedish SME Securities Firm as new Trading Member

BX Swiss attracts leading Swedish SME securities firm as trading member thanks to BX's efforts and momentum in the SME space.

The Swiss stock exchange BX Swiss has approved Mangold Fondkommission as a new trading member for its SME Main Market. Mangold had previously received permission to set up a branch in Switzerland from both the Swedish Financial Supervisory Authority (FI) and the Swiss regulator FINMA. Mangold is already a member of leading European SME markets such as Nasdaq Stockholm, Nasdaq Helsinki, Spotlight Stock Market and Nordic Growth Market and provides key services such as market making to a large number of listed SMEs.

"The partnership with BX Swiss is another step in our efforts to provide financial services for SME companies in European marketplaces with high growth potential," added Per-Anders Tammerlöv, CEO of Mangold.

"There are many interesting SMEs in Switzerland that would benefit from a listing on a Swiss exchange. With Mangold, we have gained a very valuable partner who will help us to further expand our SME ecosystem and further establish BX Swiss as the listing venue of choice for smaller companies," said Lucas Bruggeman, CEO of BX Swiss.
