BX Swiss presents the Audience Awards at the Swiss ETF Awards 2023

As part of the Swiss ETF Awards 2023, the Swiss exchange BX Swiss presented the audience awards for the Swiss ETF and ETP Provider of the Year 2023 as well as the ETF and ETP of the Year 2023. The prizes were awarded to iShares, Global X, 21Shares and SEBA Bank.

On Thursday, 10th November 2022, the Swiss ETF Awards 2023 were presented to the winners for the second time. The focus was on ETFs and ETPs in various award categories such as "Global Dividend Equity ETFs", "European Equities with ESG Approach" or "Swiss Equities". The awarded quality winners are ETFs that were rated best in their comparative category in the qualitative ETF rating as of the end of September 2022.

Based on an online survey on BX plus and finanzen.ch, the Swiss ETF and ETP Provider of the Year 2023 and the most popular Swiss ETF and ETP of the Year 2023 were determined respectively. These public awards were presented by the Swiss exchange BX Swiss and presented to the following winners:

Category	Provider / product
ETF Provider of the Year	iShares
ETF of the Year	Global X Hydrogen ETF UCITS ETF USD Acc
ETP Provider of the Year	21Shares
ETP of the Year	SEBA Crypto Asset Select Index (SEBAX®) ETP

"We are very pleased to present the Audience Awards for the second time as part of the Swiss ETF Awards. As a Swiss exchange, we focus on the needs of retail clients and the Audience Awards give us the opportunity to gain insights into the interests of private investors. This year's awards (in the ETF/ETP categories) show that the focus is on future topics such as the hydrogen industry and the blockchain technology. This shows that investors are willing to invest in future-oriented investment trends despite challenging market conditions. We are happy to take this trend into account in the further design of our own ETF/ETP segments," says David Kunz, COO of BX Swiss AG.
